

Invitation to Flood Zone 7 Meeting on July 27”

On Wednesday, July 27, from 6pm to 8pm, the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District will host a Flood Control Zone 7 meeting. Staff will review the scope and timeline to develop a new engineering design for the Santa Venetia levee flood barrier along Gallinas Creek. The design team will share their initial concepts and the process for selecting a design that works best for the community. We are looking for your feedback.

Please see the attached meeting agenda.

The meeting will be a hybrid model where the public may attend in person at the Civic Center or virtually via Zoom. This will be the first of three public meetings to support the engineering design process.

Physical location: Marin County Civic Center, 3501 Civic Center Drive, Suite #330, San Rafael 94903.
